

Institute for the Management of Information Systems (IMIS)

5 Kingfisher House, New Mill Road, Orpington, Kent , BR5 3QG United Kingdom

Tel +44 (0)700 00 23456

Fax +44 (0)700 00 23023

Email central@imis.org.uk

Mission Statement

"The mission of the Institute is to further the cause of professionalism within the information systems industry and to increase the awareness by the public, as individuals or as organisations, of the advances, implications and potential within the information systems industry."

The Institute for the Management of Information Systems (IMIS) is the leading independent professional association for both users and developers of today's information technologies.

Its vision is to see information systems management recognised as one of the key professions influencing the future of our world.

IMIS is known for its focus on the practical issues involved in the application and management of information and communication technologies.

These issues are now moving into the forefront of public awareness and debate, demonstrating the importance of the work of the Institute and its members.

The IMIS Examination Syllabus, established in 1978 and unaffiliated with any vendor or industry body, leads to one of the most highly sought after and respected IS professional qualifications in over 50 countries around the world.

IMIS is a registered charity in the United Kingdom.